

Supplementary Agreement

for the grant of software licenses from Visual Components to pupils, students and educational institutions

1. This Supplementary Agreement is only valid for educational and research purposes, general-education and vocational schools as well as for universities. Research institutes only can make use of this Supplementary Agreement, if they don't use the licensed software in a commercial way. An otherwise commercially active company may only make use of this Supplementary Agreement if it only uses the licensed software for educational purposes and not commercially. A commercial use is expressly not permitted.
2. The Licensee is not permitted to pass the Software to third parties irrespective whether against payment or free of charge. In the case of floating licenses, it is allowed to install the Software of one license on various computers of the same educational institution according to section 1, but only a limited number of users may access the program at the same time. How many users are allowed to access the program at the same time depends on which kind of license has been purchased (basically 1, 5, 10 or 20).
3. In the case of a breach of this Supplementary Agreement a compensation must be paid. The compensation corresponds to the difference between the regular license fee and the fee paid by the customer due to the privilege of an educational institution according to this Supplementary Agreement.
